BRAND GUIDELINES

The Equal Lens

Unlearn. Relearn. Grow.

A clearer lens on fairness — helping children unlearn bias and relearn empathy through play.

Version 1.0 June 2026 theequallens.com

01 — FOUNDATION

See through the eQ lens.

Our mark reads as eQ — and that double meaning is the whole idea. eQuality meets EQ, emotional intelligence. One way of seeing the world: fairly, and with empathy. Everything in this book ladders up to it.

VISION

A generation that treats fairness as something they do — noticing bias and choosing better, on their own.

MISSION

We help children unlearn bias and relearn empathy through play — before inherited ideas harden into lifelong assumptions.

POSITIONING

For the schools, families, and communities raising the next generation, The Equal Lens is a fairness-education studio that makes bias visible through games and play — because what kids absorb early doesn't have to be permanent.

Unlearn & Relearn

Two moves sit at the heart of everything — and our mascots are those moves. They aren't decoration; they're the value system.

Unlearn

UN · the eraser

Question and let go of inherited bias. Start fresh.

Aware · Curious · Brave

Relearn

RE · the pencil

Rebuild with empathy and imagination. Draw something fairer.

Empathy · Creative · Hopeful

Unlearn → Relearn → Grow → repeat

A continuous loop, not a one-time fix. Awareness, empathy, critical thinking and inclusion all live inside these two.

Curious. Warm. Brave.

Playful, not preachy

Invite a smile before a lesson. Never wag a finger.

Curious, not corrective

Ask more than we tell. Questions do the teaching.

Warm, for everyone

Inclusive by default. Challenge the idea, never the child.

Hopeful & active

Bias is learned, so it can be unlearned. Always leave agency.

AUDIENCE	SHOULD FEEL	WE SOUND
Kids	Fun, safe, capable	Short, vivid, encouraging
Parents	Reassured, equipped	Warm, practical, partnering
Teachers & schools	Confident, low-effort	Credible, research-aware
Funders & partners	Mission + impact	Clear, purposeful, evidence-forward

Lean in

notice · question · fair · try · choose · “what would you do?”

Avoid

should · must · wrong · correct · “here's the right answer”

A violet system, two playful accents.

Equal Violet

#553286 · primary

50	100	200	400	600	800	900
F3F0F6	E5E0ED	C5B6DE	7F65A4	553286	331E50	221436

Insight Teal · #2DD4BF
Unlearn accent

Grow Coral · #FF7A5C
Relearn accent

Paper · #F6F3FA
Background

Violet leads, neutrals carry, accents appear in small doses — teal on “unlearn” moments, coral on “relearn” and calls-to-action. Deep Indigo #221436 for body text on light.

Playful, with purpose.

Poppins

Headlines · 500 / 600

See through the eQ lens

Nunito Sans

Body · 400 / 600

Some things feel completely normal — but are they actually fair? The quick brown fox jumps over the lazy dog.

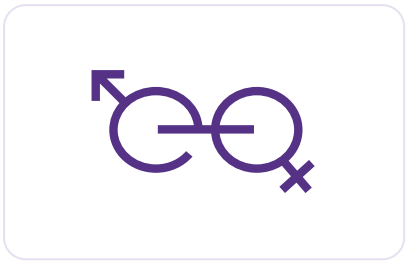

Baloo 2

Kids & mascots only · 500 / 600

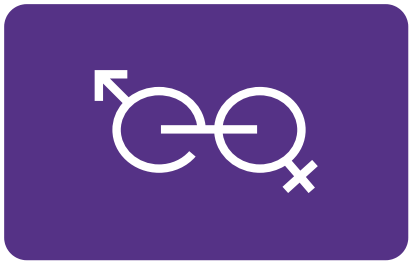

Unlearn. Relearn. Grow.

Baloo 2 is reserved for kid-facing UI, games and mascot speech — never body copy. All three are free on Google Fonts.

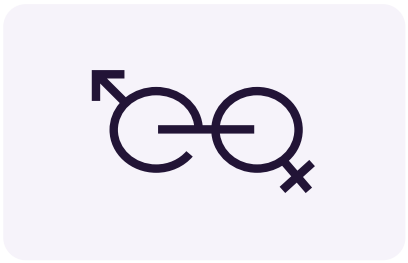

The eQ mark

Primary · violet on white

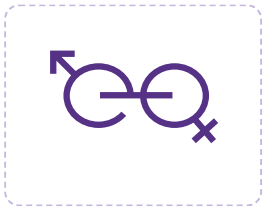

Reversed · white on violet

Mono · single colour

Clear space & minimum size

Keep clear space ≥ the height of the mark's opening. Never below 24px / 8mm tall.

Don't

× recolour

× stretch

× rotate

× add effects

How we say it.

ROLE	LINE	USE FOR
Signature	Unlearn. Relearn. Grow.	Lockup, sign-offs, merch
Hook	Bias is learned — so it can be unlearned.	Headlines, ads, pitch openers
Concept	See fairness through the eQ lens.	About page, decks

BOILERPLATE · 25 WORDS

The Equal Lens helps children unlearn bias and relearn empathy through play — turning fairness into something kids notice, question, and create, not something adults lecture about.

BOILERPLATE · 100 WORDS

Children don't learn bias in lessons — they absorb it from playgrounds, media, family, and the words around them. By middle school, much of it is set. The Equal Lens exists to interrupt that. We design playful, purposeful experiences — games, scenarios, activities — that make bias visible and invite kids to reflect, rather than lecturing them on fairness. Two moves sit at the heart of everything: unlearn inherited assumptions, and relearn with empathy. Working across schools, families, and communities, we help a generation treat fairness as active, ongoing, and theirs to shape. Bias is learned — so it can be unlearned.

Let's build a fairer playground.

support@theequallens.com · theequallens.com · @theequallensorg

